The Market Basket
The weaving of baskets is as old as the history of man. Traces of baskets have been found in the Egyptian pyramids, and woven basket liners have left their impressions inside the fragments of ancient pottery. Baskets were a necessity before the paper or plastic shopping bags! Now, we find the need to go back to using reusable containers for shopping, storage, etc. Create your own market basket in one class session! Using reed which is harvested from the rattan vine you will learn how to lay the base, insert the handle, weave the sides, and riming and shaping techniques. The final basket measures 10”x10”x14” to the top of the handle. Some inexpensive supplies will be needed. Supply list will be sent to participants prior to the class.

Toward a New Understanding of Miracles

This course will look at the topic of “miracle.” In particular, we will argue for a definition of miracle as, the appearance of conceptuality in the products of mind-independent processes (to be explained), as opposed to “a violation of the laws of nature,” as David Hume assumed. By understanding miracles in this way, we will be able to more properly situate them as evidence in arguments for God’s existence.

Nunsense begins when the Little Sisters of Hoboken discover that their cook, Sister Julia, Child of God, has accidentally poisoned 52 of the sisters, and they are in dire need of funds for the burials. The sisters decide that the best way to raise the money is to put on a variety show, so they take over the school auditorium, which is currently set up for the eighth grade production of “Grease.” Here we meet Reverend Mother Regina, a former circus performer; Sister Mary Hubert, the Mistress of Novices; a streetwise nun from Brooklyn named Sister Robert Anne; Sister Mary Leo, a novice who is a wannabe ballerina; and the delightfully wacky Sister Mary Amnesia, the nun who lost her memory when a crucifix fell on her head.
